

a¹
amcd.

and having a number of terminals connected to the coils, thereby forming a star connected armature winding.

a²

6. (Amended) A star connector for a wound rotor of a miniature electric motor comprising a base of insulating resin material and a terminal ring of conductive material spring-fitted to the base and having a number of terminals for connection of one end of each coil of the wound rotor.